CITY ESTATES DEPRIVATION HIGHLIGHTED

• One of the two tower blocks in Blackbird Leys and (right) Blackbird Leys resident and MP Andrew Smith

By Loughlan Campbell

PARTS of Rose Hill and Blackbird Leys have been named in the top 10 per cent of the most deprived UK neighbourhoods a Government report revealed yesterday

And figures from this year s Indices of Deprivation from Department for Communities and Local Government named areas of North Oxford Marston Headington and Jericho in the bottom 10 per cent.

Northfield Brook in Blackbird Leys and the area around Spencer Crescent Asquith Road and Fiennes Road in Rose Hill were in the most deprived list

Minister at Rose Hill Methodist Church, Reverend Rosemary Davis said the news did not surprise her

She said. "People generally think Oxford doesn t have deprived communities with it being the city of dreaming spires but there are pockets of deprivation Rose Hill and Blackbird Leys are cases in point

There is a weekly food bank and we know of people who come who do not have the basics "who do not have food and can t pay the bills "

Rev Davis who is also the minister for churches in Headington and Kennington, said the differences between the areas were vast

Oxford East Labour MP Andrew Smith, who lives in Blackbird Leys said "There is a real and present danger of a widening chasm opening up between the haves and have nots in our city This is wrong unfair and desperately damaging both to those shut out of opportunity and to the fabric of our society"

Jayden's mum launches domestic abuse charity

By Loughlan Campbell

December 3

THE mother of murdered Didcot teenager Jayden Parkinson has spoken about her decision to launch a charity to provide comfort for teenagers who have suffered domestic abuse.

Samantha Shrewsbury has set up Jayden's Gift in memory of her daughter, who died in December 2013.

The 17 year old's body was found in the graveyard of All Saints Church in Didcot after she had been killed by ex-boyfriend Ben Blakeley in a jealous rage in a field near Upton on December 3.

Blakeley was sentenced to life in prison on July 25 last year.

Ms Shrewsbury said: "We are getting together to think of things to do to raise money and awareness of what needs to be done to help combat teenage domestic abuse.

"We just want to make some thing positive come from some thing that is quite nasty."

The plans for the charity eventually involve a home where victims can come together and be safe.

The group held a fundraising event at The Wheatsheaf in Wantage Road last Saturday to commemorate Jayden's 18th birthday and featured live music, a barbecue, prize draw and hair braiding.

It raised around £650 for the group which is expected to have its registered charity status confirmed in the coming months.

Staff member cleared of misconduct

A THAMES Valley Police staff member has been cleared of misconduct in relation to the Jayden Parkinson missing person investigation.

The force confirmed yesterday that the staff member had "no case to answer" after they and three officers were referred to misconduct proceedings.

Thames Valley Police referred the matter to the Independent Police Complaints Commission on December 14, 2013, to look at their response into Jayden being reported missing and their contact with her before she was murdered.

The first misconduct meeting was held last Friday, where the staff member was cleared.

Two of the three officers' meetings will be held tomorrow, while a date has yet to be set for the third officer. A final written warning is the highest sanction that could be imposed.

Landlord fined for "filthy" living conditions

AN OXFORD landlord has been ordered to pay more than £4 000 for running an unlicensed and unsafe House in Multiple Occupation (HMO).

Mohammed Waqas Anwar of Oxford Road in Kidlington appeared at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Monday where he pleaded guilty to six breaches of HMO regulations.

He was prosecuted after Oxford City Council environmental health officers visited the house in Ridgefield Road, last November and found broken smoke alarms, a missing fire door and a bathroom in a filthy condition.

Anwar was fined £2 000 for being in control of an unlicensed HMO, £1 250 for five breaches of Management of HMO regulations, and told to pay the council's full costs of £1 420.

Bob Price, leader of the city council, said: "Since introducing the HMO licensing scheme in 2011 we have licensed nearly 3 500 properties in the city.

"The council is planning to extend the scheme for a further five years and would like to encourage all landlords whose properties do not currently have licenses to contact us."

He added: "We will of course take action against landlords who fail to comply with the legal requirements to license and maintain HMOs to an acceptable and safe standard."

Conman warning

OXON: Residents were conned out of almost half a mill on pounds by doorstep criminals across Oxfordshire in the last year.

They paid out £430,475 to conmen from 2014 to 2015, figures from Oxfordshire County Council's trading standards team revealed yesterday.

Officers also received 377 complaints in the same period.

Staff led an operation across South Oxfordshire yesterday of several patrols scouring known doorstep crime hotspots.

The council's doorstep crime lead officer Martin Woodley said: "These unscrupulous traders often prey on the elderly and vulnerable by using pressure tactics."

Top High Street

CHIPPING NORTON: Chipping Norton's one of three finalists vying for the title of Britain's best high street in the market town category of the Great British High Street awards.

The town is due to find out which other two market towns it faces in the competition today.

The winner will be decided by a visit from judges and public votes over the next six weeks.

They will also get a share of £60 000 prize money.

Wantage won the best town centre category last year, while Belper in Derbyshire won the market town category.

Sex assault arrest

OXON: A man has been arrested in connection to a sexual assault on a 10-year old boy in the toilets of Cherwell Services on the M40.

The 21 year old from Wetherby in West Yorkshire was arrested by police and bailed until November 9.

At about 3pm on Sunday August 23, the boy was touched over his clothes by a man.

Baby murder accused says 'I was good father'

Captain box

A DAD accused of murdering his 11 week old baby told an Oxford Crown Court jury that he was a good father.

Jordan Saxton, 22, denies murdering Jayden Saxton last November at the Untons Piece home in Farmgdon he shared with the child's mum Tracy Ray.

Saxton, who is originally from Cowley, made the claim after prosecutor Paul Dunkels recounted the transcript of the interviews he gave on March 10 at Abingdon Police Station.

He told the police: "Being a dad was all new to me and I'm first time I put a nappy on Jayden, I put it on backwards.

"I just got stuck into being a parent. I was a good father and I did not have any concerns about myself as a dad. I would do anything a parent would do to stop their child from crying but I would never get angry with him."

Ms Ray had left Saxton home alone with Jeyden for 90 minutes before he called 999 on November 16. Saxton claimed that after putting Jayden to bed for an hour, he checked on his son and fed him from the bottle before lying with him on a bed.

After a few minutes Saxton claimed Jhai Jayden started coughing and that "it sounded like something had got stuck.

The police interview from March revealed that Jayden might not have been fed properly when Saxton tried to feed him when they were alone.

Saxton told the police: "When I tried to feed him, he was dribbling down his face. It was like he was not swallowing it.

"It just didn't look like he was sucking on it and it just seemed to be dribbling down his face. He was moaning the whole way through it.

When Saxton was asked what he thought of his newborn son, he said: "He is amazing, sort of moaney but that was just Jayden. He used to smile when ever I said his name."

Previously in the trial, it was revealed that the toddler's right clavicle (shoulder blade) had been fractured. A post mortem found that nine of his ribs had been fractured.

After Jordan called an ambulance Jayden was taken to Swindon's Great Western Hospital before he was moved to Bristol Royal Hospital for Children where his life-support system was switched off two days later.

MP Smith to put city case for 'social justice'

• From front page

He said he would be calling for a meeting with the Chancellor of the Exchequer "to put Oxford's case for opportunity for all and social justice".

Parts of Barton estate off Bayswater Road and Barnwood Road were also in the top 20 per cent of the deprivation report.

The figures revealed that part of the Carfax ward in Oxford city centre and an area of Littlemore had risen out of the 20 per cent most deprived areas since the last report was released in 2010.

Jaywick, a seaside village in Essex was named as the UK's most deprived neighbourhood.

Oxford City Council's leader Bob Price yesterday said the council was doing "everything they can to even out the divide".

Cllr Price said: "These areas have been key priority areas for the council for the past decade and we are using as many methods as we can – spending tens of millions of pounds – to tackle deprivation in these areas.

"The sky high rents and house prices in the city also exacerbate deprivation by taking higher and higher proportions of family incomes.

"The council is doing as much it can to build more houses in Oxford in the little space that we have left."

Last year a group headed by a council director with council officers working under them was set up to oversee the council's work tackling deprivation on the Barton, Rose Hill and Blackbird Leys estates.

A £20 million refurbishment of Oxford's five tower blocks which include two on the Blackbird Leys estate is due to start next year.

But last month the council revealed fears that the tower block refurbishment work might have to be delayed because of finance problems.

However, the new £8m Leys Pool and Leisure Centre opened in January and a £5m Rose Hill Community Centre is due to open this Christmas.

'Begging order' plans back before council

By Loughlan Campbell

OXFORD City Council reaffirmed its proposals to introduce a begging order in the city on Tuesday despite opposition from residents and human rights organisations

The council wants to introduce a controversial public service protection order (PSPO) across Oxford which would combat aggressive begging remaining in a public toilet without reasonable excuse and nuisance busking

The order means that people committing such acts could be fined up to £100

Liberty, a human rights organisation based in London called in June for the council to scrap the unlawful plans which it said criminalises homeless people and buskers

The group's letter delayed the decision and the council reviewed the order which was published on Tuesday

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said, "We reviewed the process and included data to explain our reasons for implementing the report and have now provided evidence of the harm and damage that's caused in our city centre."

The new report revealed that between July 1, 2014 and June 15 this year there were 89 reports of begging made to the police in Oxford.

The report also stated that on 26 occasions one or more people were found sleeping or occupying a toilet for an extended period of time between January and June this year

However the results from a survey into the PSPO revealed that 48 per cent of people felt these issues should not be included in the order

Cllr Price added "We think this order will improve life in the city centre and it will act as a warning device for those that abuse it."

But Green councillor Sam Hollick said "It's disappointing to see that the principles of the report remain the same

"We should not be criminalising behaviour like this"

Rosie Brighouse, legal officer at Liberty said "We appreciate the time Oxford City Council has taken in amending its draft PSPO but we still have significant concerns

"By their very nature these orders are blunt instruments which can criminalise the most vulnerable

We will continue to liaise with the council to try and persuade them to think again"

PSPOs are seen as a update on existing public space restrictions such as alcohol designated public place orders

The updated report is set to go in front of the council's scrutiny committee next Tuesday with the council's executive board set to decide whether to implement it on October 15

Rapist held after global manhunt

By Katriona Ormiston

It could be up to two years before a convicted Oxford rapist who fled to Hong Kong is deported to the UK and jailed

Joseph Tsang of Sandy Lane Littlemore was caught by Hong Kong Police on Friday following an international manhunt

But it could be between two months and two years before the 31-year-old is flown back to Oxford Crown Court for 10 sexual offences

The Oxfordshire Guardian published an appeal to track down Tsang in September after he absconded before he was due to appear in a trial at Oxford Crown Court in August

Deputy local policing area commander for Oxford Acting Chief Inspector John Turner said "We would like to thank the public and media for their assistance during our wanted investigation after Tsang failed to appear at court for a trial into sexual offences in Hampshire, having already been convicted for sexual offences in Oxfordshire."

In January at Oxford Crown Court he was found guilty of three counts of sexual activity with a child under 16 making indecent images of a child, and two counts of causing or inciting a girl under 16 to engage in sexual offences All the crimes were in Oxfordshire

Later on August 25 he was found guilty in his absence following a six day trial of two counts of rape and two counts of sexual assault by penetration at an Hampshire

Thames Valley Police issued a warrant for his arrest and urged anyone who knew where he was to think about the "living nightmare his victims went through

The force said he could have fled to Hong Kong where he had connections before Interpol drafted a warrant for his arrest.

Tsang an amateur skater was arrested at 8 30pm on Friday and appeared at Eastern Magistrates Court in Hong Kong on Saturday

He is now due to be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on a date to be confirmed

Insp Turner said "We would also like to thank all the partner agencies we have worked along side during this investigation, including the Crown Prosecution Service Hampshire Constabulary the National Crime Agency the Hong Kong Police the Hong Kong Crown Prosecution Service Interpol and UK Immigration"

Headteacher to face trial on child-sex allegations

A FORMER Oxfordshire headteacher who has pleaded not guilty to four counts of sexual offences against girls aged under 13 will stand trial in February

Christopher Field 46 of Green Lane, Cheveley Berkshire appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Monday in connection with three charges of assault on a girl under 13 by touching and one of inciting a girl under 13 to engage in sexual activity

The offences are alleged to have taken place while Field was the headteacher at Woodcote Primary School in South Oxfordshire between 2010 and 2012

Field pleaded not guilty to all four counts at a previous hearing at the same court back in July

A trial date had previously been set for January 18 next year but this was pushed back to February 22 at Monday's hearing with the case being estimated to take 10 days to hear

Judge Zoe Smith said there was likely to be "quite a lot of witnesses" for the case

A pre-trial review has been scheduled for January 18

Field has been released on bail until the trial

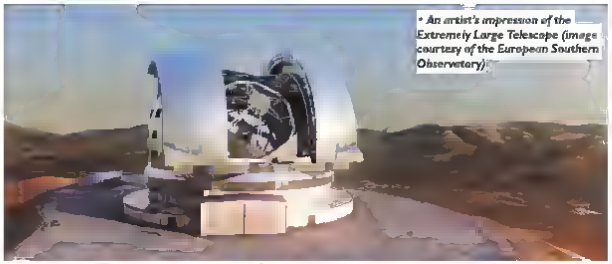
University boffins help build world's biggest telescope



An artist's impression of the Extremely Large Telescope (image courtesy of the European Southern Observatory)

By Katriona Ormiston

RESEARCHERS from Oxford University are designing and building part of what will become the world's biggest telescope in Chile.

Their piece of £14.2 million hardware called a spectrograph, will be fitted to the European Extremely Large Telescope (E-ELT) in the Atacama Desert in northern Chile.

Building work on the £900m telescope, dubbed "the world's biggest eye on the sky", started last year and is due to be first used in 2024.

It aims to track down Earth-like planets and help scientists study distant and young galaxies in better detail than before to help increase our understanding of the universe.

Called HARMONI, the spectrograph will be one of the three scientific instruments fitted to the E-ELT.

It will split up light from objects in the sky to reveal the movement, temperature and chemical composition of structures.

The project is being led by Professor Niranjan Thatte, of the university's Department of Physics, who described the instrument as "a workhorse".

Prof Thatte said: "It will revolutionise observational astronomy through the 2020s and beyond. By studying the light from galaxies distant and nearby in great detail, we hope to unravel the physical processes that have shaped the cosmos throughout its history."

The Oxford researchers signed a deal with the European Southern Observatory (ESO) last week to lead the design and build with the United Kingdom Astronomy Technology Centre and RAL Space in the UK.

The ESO's director general Tim de Zeeuw said: "There is already a lot of progress in Chile on the summit of Armazones and the next few years will be very exciting."

He added: "A fully working E-ELT will be the most powerful of all the extremely large telescope projects currently planned with superior light collecting area and instrumentation.

"It will allow the initial characterisation of Earth-mass exoplanets, the study of the resolved stellar populations in nearby galaxies as well as ultra-sensitive observations of the deep universe."

- The European Extremely Large Telescope (E-ELT) will be a 39-metre aperture optical and infrared telescope on the Cerro Armazones in the Chilean Atacama Desert.
- The HARMONI spectrograph will be one of the three scientific instruments fitted to the E-ELT.
- It will split the light from the object in the sky into its component wavelengths or colours.
- HARMONI will slice the light entering the E-ELT into 152 separate slitlets, each of which would be analysed for 2.8 gigabits along its length.
- Astronomers can use that to reveal the motion, temperature, and chemical composition of structures using the telescope.
- It will provide details such as high resolution for bright objects and high sensitivity for dim, distant objects.

Man arrested

OXFORD/DIDCOT A 23-year-old Didcot man was arrested after a man in fancy dress was attacked in the Slug and Lettuce pub next to Oxford Castle on Sunday.

The 28 year old victim suffered a serious cut to the face in the assault at 12.15am. The Didcot man was arrested on suspicion of grievous bodily harm and has been bailed until November 10.

Investigating officer Detective Sergeant Kirk Rogers said: "The offence happened at a busy venue and I would appeal to anyone who witnessed the incident to contact police by calling 101."

Truck misses out

OXON: Truck Festival in Steventon missed out on the top Golden Welly Award for best independent music festival after being shortlisted in the top five.

The Association of Independent Music award was handed to Brainchild Festival in Sussex at a ceremony in London.

But Oxfordshire's self-out festival at Hill Farm is still in the mix for the Best Festival award for the under 15,000 capacity in the Live Music Industry Awards.

It was held on July 17 and 18 this year and hosted 6,000 musicians alongside acts including Basement Jaxx, The Charlatans, Sloves and Clean Bandit.

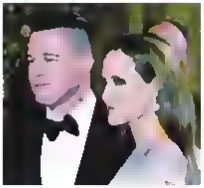
A winner will be announced on Friday October 16 during a ceremony in London.

Film stars in home search

HOLLYWOOD A-lister Brad Pitt could soon be moving to South Oxfordshire after rumours surfaced the 51 year-old and his wife Angelina Jolie, 40, were house-hunting.

The film stars could potentially join Pitt's Ocean's Eleven co-star George Clooney and his wife Amal Alamuddin, 37, who live in Sonning Eye in a £10m mansion.

The move, which would need space for Pitt and Jolie's six children Maddox, 14, Pax Thien, 11, Zahara, 10, Shiloh, 9, and seven-year-old twins Knox and Vivienne, would coincide with Pitt filming his next film at Pinewood Studios in Iver Heath, Buckinghamshire, next year.



A source is quoted as saying: "Brad will need to be in England in the New Year for his next flick at Pinewood Studios, just north of London. Sonning to Pinewood will be a breeze of a commute but means him, Angelina and the kids will still have the luxury of living out in the sticks."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes in the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is indeed such a approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which never ceases to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.

So if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Hit-and-run plea

OXFORD An 18 year-old man was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital on Saturday with serious head and limb injuries after a hit and run collision on the city's Blackbird Leys estate.

Police are appealing for help to trace the car involved which drove away from a pelican crossing in Blackbird Leys Road after stopping momentarily.

The collision occurred at about 4pm. The car is described as being light coloured and could have damage to its bonnet and windscreen.

The pedestrian was later released from hospital.

They were alerted at 2.40pm and five engines from Witney, Abingdon, Faringdon and Oxford attended.

Track tested as opening date for Parkway looms

WITH less than a month until the new Oxford Parkway railway station opens its doors to the public the first trains have travelled over the new track.

The station – the first to be built in Oxford for 79 years – will open on October 26 linking the city to London Marylebone.

Trains from Chiltern Railways tested the track last week as part of driver training for the £320million project.

The station at Water Eaton near Kidlington, built next to a park-and-ride site, will offer journeys to London in just under an hour.

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said: "I think this station is a wonderful development for the people of Oxford and it will prove to be of huge economic benefit to our local economy as it will boost links between Oxford and London.

"After having a look around the station I can say that it really is fantastic and people will be surprised how busy it will be when it opens this month."

The new route has been connected to Chiltern's Birmingham to London line via a new 11km stretch of track built south of Bicester.

By Loughlan Campbell

Cllr Price believes the new link will lead to a rise in house prices in Oxford.

More people will also want to take up the option of living in Oxford due to the attractive nature of the commute which will once again raise issues of finding houses in Oxford for them," he said.

Stephen Barker, chief project engineer at Chiltern Railways, said: "The project has been over 10 years in the making, constituting an investment of £130m for Chiltern and we are thrilled to see the first driver instruction trains travel across the junction on to the new line."

Andy Milne, senior programme manager at Network Rail, said: "This is a real step forward in reconnecting the railway from Oxford and Bicester towards Bletchley, Milton Keynes and Bedford."

It is the first new rail link between London and a major British city for over 100 years.

Filmmaker screens debut epic

A WALLINGFORD filmmaker has already got his eyes on his next project after he premiered his debut film at the Wallingford Corn Exchange on Saturday.

A large crowd attended the Market Place venue to watch the 21-minute film entitled 'Exit Plan', which follows a man trying to escape the Earth after a meteorite sends the Moon heading on a crash course towards the earth.

Richard Oakes, 31, from Wallingford was a former banman but now manages the Wallingford based production company Dark Fable Media.

He made the film in his hometown of Cardigan, West Wales, where he and friend Mark Brugere shot the scenes with a couple of pals and extras over the course of four days.

Richard, who gave a speech before the premiere and hosted a Q&A session afterwards said: "It was a really good event, everybody seemed to react well to the film and there were no awkward silences, which was great for me as I was really nervous!

"It was a really fun experience and we got lots of questions from the audience at the Q&A session."

Richard is aiming to get a new project in development to start shooting next year, which would be his first feature length film.

He added: "We've been cooking up a new story that we just need to get a script written up for, which I'm really excited about. We should shoot that next year."

Preparation work begins on Oxford's flooding relief river

With investigation works underway on plans to build a £120million flood prevention channel for Oxford, Oxfordshire Guardian reporter Loughlan Campbell visited the dig site where the relief river would go

SPECIALIST contractors WYG are about halfway through the ground investigation work digging 130 boreholes and trial pits over 7km between Botley and Sandford to test out the soil.

They were near South Hinksey last week trying to figure out how and where the relief river would be built between Oxford's Botley Road and Sandford, working on behalf of the Environment Agency (EA).

Oxford was badly hit by flooding in 2003, 2007, 2012 and 2014, shutting Botley Road and Abingdon Road at times and flooding hundreds of homes and businesses.

Joanna Larmour, the EA's project director, said: "The results of this work will give us a better understanding of the nature of the rock and soils underlying the area through which the flood relief channel will be excavated.

"Alongside the information gathered during our recent public consultation events in June, we will use the data to develop channel route options that provide most benefit for the people of Oxford and the surrounding area."

Peter Collins, the EA's flood risk management leader, said: "It's about understanding how the environment will be affected by our work as well as making the most optimum decision for the people of Oxford.

"The work will help us design the flood relief channel and we will report to the public in a consultation period early next year with our designs of what it will likely look like.

"The channel will be no different to any other river with some quite deep sections and some high sections."

The trial pits are about 1m wide, 3m long, and up to 3.5m deep, and the boreholes are about 15cm in diameter and up to 10 metres deep. All the pits and boreholes being dug are filled in the same day.

Oxford Flood Alliance member and Kennington resident, John Mastroddi, said: "We are in favour of this scheme working, however it's just a question of knowing where exactly it's going to be. They have listened to our opinions but it's going to be difficult to know if it will work."

So far, £100m has been raised to fund the project by the government, Oxfordshire County Council, Thames Regional Flood and Coastal Committee and the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership.

The county council's deputy leader, Rodney Rose, said: "There is still funding to be found for the project but I won't get too bothered by it until we start putting the diggers in the ground for the actual channel."

Building work on the channel could start in 2018.

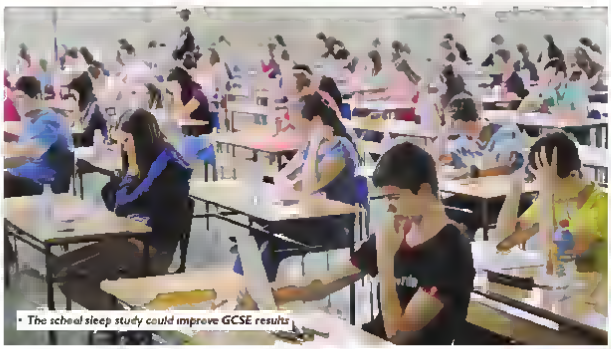
School signs up to trial testing teenage lie-ins



The school sleep study could improve GCSE results

THE first school has signed up to an Oxford University trial to test if starting lessons at 10am boosts exam results

The school in Bolton is taking part in the sleep study launching in September next year while an Oxfordshire school is considering joining the trial

It is the first of its kind in the UK and would see Year 10 and 11 pupils start lessons an hour later to see if their GCSE grades rise

Oxford University sleep expert Christopher Harvey said "During adolescence our biological clock changes so teenagers are biologically predisposed to sleep later and stay up later

"Starting at 9am their body clocks are not optimised for learning. It kicks in at about 10am when pupils are more able to take in information"

In total more than 30,000 pupils from 100 schools across England are to join the Teensleep project

It is the largest ever study to look at delayed school start times on results and will run for two years

It will also look at sleep education and what effect teaching pupils about sleep patterns could have

One Eynsham school is considering joining the trial, as well as at least eight others across the UK.

By Katriona Ormiston

The 100 schools need to be signed up by next July

They would then be split into four groups - those trialling the delayed start time, sleep education, both, or neither

Sleep education would involve five lessons teaching pupils the science and biology of sleep and how to get the best out of when to go to sleep and how long to sleep for

Dr Harvey based in South Parks Road added "Teaching this could help them become more resilient psychologically during periods of transition in early adulthood

"We have some pilot data from a school in the south east which shows if you delay start times results actually improve

"A lot of the data that backs this up is from the US but the issue with the US is their schools start very early - from 8 30am to 8 30am - so their delayed starts were 8 30am or 9 30am

About 20 researchers and sleep experts are running the Oxford project - funded by the Wellcome Trust and Education Endowment Fund and involving York University and Durham University

Estimated optimum times for people in their:

Twenties:
8 30am – wake-up
Midday – start work
5pm – exercise
8pm – stop work
1am – sleep

Thirties:
7.54am – wake-up
10 20am – start work
3 30pm – exercise
6.30pm – stop work
11 30pm – sleep

Forties:
6.54am – wake up
8am – exercise
9am – start work
5pm – finish work
10pm – sleep

BUT Dr Harvey pointed out that there is always variation in these patterns, and ideally we should sleep, wake up and work within our own rhythm.

Pupils left starstruck following Olympians' Oxford visit

Video online at oxfordshireguardian.co.uk

By Loughlan Campbell

ABOUT 600 girls had the chance to meet some of their favourite star athletes in a special day of sports in Oxford.

The 14- to 15 year-olds from 39 schools across England met Olympic gold medal winning hurdler Sally Gunnell, skeleton bobsleigh Winter Olympic gold medallist Amy Williams and Team GB rower from Oxford, Katie Greves.

Students from across Oxfordshire including Oxford High School, Cheney School and St Helens & St Katherine's in Abingdon joined pupils from as far as Newcastle at Headington School in Headington Road for the sporting conference last Thursday.

Gunnell, 49, unveiled the school's new dance and fitness centre. The athlete turned TV presenter, who won gold in the 400m hurdles in the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, said: "I just think it's going to be a life changing day for these girls.

"This is the kind of age where girls are deciding what they want to do and I'm so excited for them that they have the chance to get inspired."

Amy Williams, 32, who won gold in the 2010 Winter Olympics in Vancouver, gave a speech at the event.

She told the Guardian: "When I was the age of some of these girls I never really had these opportunities so I think this is such a good idea.

"It's been such a lovely day and I've felt a really good vibe."

Headington School pupil Lily Newall, 15, from Noke, said: "The best part of the day was the speeches. Amy Williams was really inspiring and it was great to hear what she's done and hear about her experiences."

Cheney School pupil Katherine Smart, 15, from Headington said: "I have just enjoyed the variety of things to do. There's a range of useful things and I am learning quite a lot."

The students took part in various workshops including gym training with England Women's Rugby World Cup winners Rocky Clark and Kat Merchant, to competing in a rowing taster with Greves.

Greves, 33, an ex Headington School pupil and English teacher at Oxford Academy said: "Everybody is pumped up and raring to go.

"I think the girls are getting really inspired by the chance to give rowing a go. I hope a few of them decide to pursue it because we've seen some really talented potential rowers here."

WIN Tickets to See An Evening of Burlesque

FOR the first time ever the biggest burlesque stars from around the world are set to star on the same stage.

An Evening of Burlesque unveils a brand new spectacular stage show for 2015 promising that Britain's biggest burlesque production is 'going global' for the new year.

It is coming to the New Theatre, Oxford on Friday October 30. And we have teamed up with the producers of the superb An Evening of Burlesque to give away pairs of tickets to see the show.

Among the array of international talent brought together for An Evening of Burlesque's nationwide tour are the very best burlesque performers drawn from five continents of the world. The themes run thick, fast and from equally far afield.

For its fifth year, An Evening of Burlesque goes international.

Closing date. 25 October

The set list can include strutting Vegas showgirls in all their finery, a tutu too funny take on Russia's Bolshoi Ballet, going nuts on Brazil's Copacabana beach, a Roaring (with laughter) Twenties tribute to America's Great Gatsby and international intrigue thanks to a James Bond finale, featuring a giant martini glass glamorously garnished by a splashing Bond Girl.

Already Britain's biggest burlesque extravaganza, a quarter of a million people have now seen this show. An Evening of Burlesque has spent the past two years touring the rest of the world, revealing the secrets of the art of burlesque to delighted audiences.

From Milan to Zurich, St Petersburg to Minsk, Leipzig to Verona, Dresden to Riga, Padova to Dessau, audiences have given the show a standing ovation.

The show combines musical and theatrical parody, cutting edge variety, magic, comedy and dance with the art of striptease.

Also, there's a prize for the best dressed member of the audience with theatregoers revelling in the opportunity of dressing up for the occasion.

For over-18s only, An Evening of Burlesque is the slickest, wickedly wittiest, most delightfully choreographed cabaret spectacular of the year.

Dress up and come to the cabaret.

New group in town

AN UP and coming band will be making their first appearance at The Swan pub in Banbury this Saturday October 3.

Country and rock group John McCullagh and The Escorts will perform hits from their album New Born Cry which will see 17-year-old lead singer John McCullagh, guitarist Craig McMahon, bassist Chris Jones and drummer Kieran Robinson take to the stage.

The chance to be a full-time musician came at a huge cost for John, who dropped out of school aged 15 to pursue his dream – something he has no regrets over.

"I left school at 15 as I never really got on at school. It just wasn't for me," he said.

"I learnt more from a Bob Dylan record than I ever did in a maths lesson."

As long as I enjoy my work and continue to get pleasure from it that is success for me."

He added: "I think nowadays there is too much pressure on people to succeed, whether it is with exams, university or whatever.

"Music will always be in my life as it's just part of my DNA so to speak, so I'll always do this no matter what."

The group is currently on a UK tour which will see them perform in Darlington, Wolverhampton, Glasgow and Manchester, as well as many other towns and cities across the UK in the next few months.

By James Richings

Ever since starting to write his own songs while learning to play the guitar aged 12, John has seen his musical career develop.

He secured his first record deal aged 14 with 359Music and continued to develop his skills with the guidance of John Power, best known for being a member of The Lens and The Cost.

The guidance has paid off for John and he has since performed at a number of different festivals in the north east, with musician Courtney Love even praising the teenager.

"When I was about 11 years old I started noticing the music my dad had on, which was like Black Sabbath and Bob Dylan," John said.

"And because of the internet I found out everything I wanted to know – what records to listen to, and who to listen to.

"It was a great education from 11 to 13 of discovering this other world of music that none of my friends had even heard of."

The free gig at the Bar Street pub starts at 9pm, and is expected to finish at around 11pm.

Trespassing in Didcot

THERE will be no holding back when comedian and journalist Mark Thomas visits the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot tomorrow evening.

By James Richings

The 52 year old entertainer who has made a name for himself by creating and starring in a number of television and radio shows since the '80s, arrives at the Station Road venue as part of his 'Trespass Tour'.

He will discuss a number of political and everyday situations with brutal honesty and clever wit.

It is not Mark's first visit to Didcot, and he said: "I have performed there since it opened and it's a fabulous place and a real gem for Didcot," he told the Guardian.

"It seems to have terrific support from the community so of course I am happy to be back."

Citing Dave Allen, Bertolt Brecht and Billy Childish as his main inspirations for his entertainment work, Mark admitted that he became an accidental journalist when working on his own show 'The Mark Thomas Comedy Product' on Channel 4.

The show was a mixture of comedy and politics with Mark using eccentric ways to interview guests whilst discussing politics within his stand up act.

The show lasted for six series between 1996 and 2002, with Mark being recognised as one of the most talked about comedians at the time.

But is has not all been smooth sailing for the comedian.

"When you have died the worst possible death on stage, gone home with humiliation ringing in your ears, can't sleep as you're cringing at how stupid you handled yourself but wake up the next day thinking about your next gig and how different it is going to be, then you stand a chance of being a stand-up," Mark said.

"My shows are a mix of journalism, theatre, stand-up and activism with a dash of performance art so if I had to put a career on a passport I would have 'creative artist'."

The show starts at 8pm.

The English Beat return to the O2

FOLLOWING on from their successful show at Oxford's O2 Academy last year The English Beat are back at the Cowley Road venue tomorrow night, October 2.

By James Richings

Created by Birmingham based musician Dave Wakeling the group is a spin off band from the 1970s and '80s group of the same name

They are currently halfway through their autumn UK tour

And with their brand new album Here We Go Love due to be released next spring Dave hopes the group can replicate the success the O2 Academy in Oxford brought them at their previous performance there last year

'We're just off the back of doing a fabulous show in Leeds in which we are halfway through the tour and our shows are getting better and better" he told the Guardian

"We performed at the O2 in Oxford last year and our show on October 2 will be a triumphant return.

"It was a really great dancing crowd and we had a really great night. They can expect the same with a bit more this time around.'

The English Beat who are best known for their hits 'Mirror in the Bathroom' and 'Hands Off She's Mine' released three albums during their first spell between 1978 and 1983 all of which peaked within the UK Top 40

After a brief reunion in 2003 the group reformed for a third time in 2006 although confusingly there are now three versions of The English Beat

Dave's group is one former lead singer Ranking Roger has his own group called The Beat with Ranking Roger which he does with his children and drummer Everett Morton performs in his adaptation, The Beat Goes Bang

Despite this Dave hopes the three groups can all collaborate one day as he hopes to inspire a new generation of musicians

"A lot of youngsters will benefit more if they go and watch live music as they will learn a lot about stagecraft," Dave said

"If a band wins a competition and they become famous over a matter of months they will perform together huddled up in the middle of the stage like they are trying to protect themselves from a dangerous wind

"You learn a lot by watching other bands performing and by doing it yourself

"It's a lot of trial and error

"When you perform, you learn how to connect with people when you're under the pressure of adrenaline and it's not easy!

"The adrenaline grabs hold of you and sometimes you get into a whole host of strange situations"

Doors open at 6.30pm

De Niro, starting again at 70...

IT'S almost unthinkable now that Robert De Niro began his on screen life as a resident of America's meanest streets, slowly descending into madness as a taxi driving Vietnam veteran with a chip on his shoulder, and a member of The Godfather's clan. After all these days he's more recognisable for light-hearted performances in comedies, as oppose to chilling scenes in which he asks his own reflection if he's looking at himself.

The Intern is a case in point. Which isn't to say this Nancy Meyers directed flick isn't a strong release– the film maker behind It's Complicated and Something's Gotta Give is again offering us a movie that's just the right side of twee and heartwarming, verging on the poignant. But this is still a million miles from the powerhouse performances that first propelled De Niro into the international spotlight.

Perhaps it's something to do with age, which is the thematic totem of The Intern, which arrives on 2nd October nationwide. De Niro plays Ben Whittaker, a 70 year old retiree and widower who decides against spending the rest of his days with feet glued to a coffee table in a permanent afternoon TV session. Seeing an opportunity for an intern at a successful online fashion site, he applies and, thanks to a push to get more senior minded people on board at the firm, is accepted for the role.

What follows is in many ways predictable. Jules Ostin (Anne Hathaway) initially has little time for small talk with this aging guy who in her opinion is tantamount to wasted hours spent delivering training. As he responds during the interview when asked 'where do you see yourself in ten years time?' he's not that far from the big eight o' meaning even if nobody wants to broach the subject there's only so much shelf life left, and eventually he will be forced to bow out.

Less cynical are his co workers who include Nat Wolff, Adam DeVine and Zack Pearlman. Quickly making a positive impression on those directly working with him, eventually even Ostin has to admit that with age comes an experience that can be useful, even if it's not strictly relevant to the world of online fashion retail. Then when the boss woman faces her own seemingly impossible odds, this silver haired chap comes into his own, imparting advice based on the fact there are very few problems he hasn't lived through, and overcome himself. Surprisingly moving and entirely relevant in an era when so many great employees are cast aside due to their date of birth, it's also witty and smile-inducing.

Robert De Niro lights up the screen in Nancy Meyers' new release The Intern.

Brand new Bentley Bentayga set to be released next year

REVIEW Bentley Bentayga
By James Richings

THIS September, a brand new car was introduced to the Bentley family

Revealed at this year's International Motor Show in Germany which took place from September 17 to September 27, the British car manufacturer announced that the Bentley Bentayga will be available to purchase next year.

The four-seat five door SUV vehicle was designed, engineered and hand crafted at its headquarters in Crewe with the Bentayga offering a wide range of features for the driver.

One of these is the Traffic Sign Recognition system, which detects a variety of traffic signs whilst displaying traffic information to the driver.

And a system called Top View uses four cameras to display an overall picture of the vehicle's surroundings.

The Bentayga is also available with Park Assist which detects suitable parking spaces before self directed steering takes over to support parking manoeuvres even in narrow spaces.

The dashboard takes the iconic Bentley 'wing' design as its inspiration with the Bentayga's exterior showing shades of previous Bentley models.

Similar to the Bentley Mulsanne which was first introduced in 2010 the Bentayga has four round LED head lamps and large matrix grille for an intimidating look.

Chairman and chief executive of Bentley Motors Wolfgang Dürheimer said: "The Bentayga redefines luxury in the SUV sector and offers a genuine Bentley experience in any environment, thanks to a combination of unparalleled attention to detail, go anywhere ability and cutting-edge technology.

"The Bentayga is the next step in our brand's bold future."

Diddy prevail in eight-goal Marlow contest

By Loughlan Campbell

A HUGELY entertaining match at Loop Meadow on Tuesday night saw Didcot Town beat Marlow 5-3 as Josh Dutton Black scored a brace.

Goals from Jack Longford, Mark Janes and Adam Learoyd rounded out the scoring for Didcot whilst Yash Romeo Kunle Otudeko and Jamal Branker netted for the Blues.

The result was Didcot's third win in four games in the league and FA Cup and sees them be in 11th in the table.

Didcot have had their fair share of injuries to battle with this season but they managed to get over the line once more as they opened the scoring early on through Dutton Black.

The midfielder added his second shortly afterwards as he latched on to a loose ball before Marlow reduced the deficit through a Romeo header.

Jack Longford then got his head on to the ball in the 28th minute to steer Didcot back into a two-goal lead, before Olukendo kept the goals flowing with a pacy effort.

• Josh Dutton-Black (second-right) in action for Didcot Town (picture by Roger Neal)

Mark Janes then netted to set the score at 4-2 at the break.

Didcot came back out in the second half all fired up and defender Learoyd headed in his sixth goal of the season six minutes into the second half.

Marlow looked to get back into the game and tested Didcot keeper Leigh Bedwell on a number of occasions before they finally broke through again with Branker's effort beating Bodwell's far post.

The result also means that it's now six games unbeaten for Ian Concannon and Jamie Heapy's side and they are now set to face league rivals Bridgwater Town in a preliminary round encounter of the FA Trophy.

Diddy's run in the competition was ended by Forest Green Rovers in the first round last season in a 4-0 defeat after a replay.

Bridgwater Town have suffered a poor start to the season with seven defeats after nine games and currently lie second bottom in the table so Didcot will be licking their lips at the prospect of facing them.

Redskins destroy Stars in South London trip

OXFORD City Stars fell to a crushing 10-3 defeat at Streatham Redskins on Saturday in a thrashing.

The Redskins led 2-1 at the first intermission with goals from Kamil Kinkor and Dean Hopkins sending them into a lead with Darren Elliot getting the Stars' goal.

Adam Wood then put the Redskins further in front with a wrap around before Evander Grundell planted the puck into the net from the post to make it four for the home side.

Oxford's goaltender Connor Ranby had to be at his best to keep out the Redskins on a number of occasions before Chris Wiggins added a tap in for his side.

Joe Edwards managed to pull one back for the Stars with Mike Whillock and Dax Hedges assisting the play.

Stephen Fisher then scored from the penalty spot with the score 6-2 at the end of the first period.

Jack Tarczyski then fired another in before Adam Rasmussen Kinkor and Joe Allen rounded out the scoring for the home side with Mike Whillock firing home for Oxford for a final score of 10-3.

Mid-race error costs Smith points

A MISTAKE halfway through the race cost Bradley Smith a better result as he finished eighth in Sunday's MotoGP race at Aragon.

Starting 10th at the Spanish circuit, Smith was up to ninth by the end of the first lap and gradually moved his way up to sixth by lap seven.

However as he was chasing the Ducati of Andrea Dovizioso ahead, Smith ran wide and was shuffled back two places.

The 24-year old kept fighting to try and get back past Cal Crutchlow ahead of him, but was unsuccessful and had to settle for eighth at the chequered flag.

"I have to be happy with the result after what was certainly a tough race at Aragon," said Smith.

"Unfortunately I made the mistake when I was right behind Dovizioso and almost ran into him, and it took me 10 laps to make up that second that I lost which just proves how easily matched we all were.

"But to come away with this result and without losing too many points in the championship is overall quite positive."

Smith remains fifth in the championship with 143 points and moves on to the next race in Japan on October 11.

Millers too strong for poor Wantage

A RAMPANT first half performance from high flying North Leigh led them to a 2-0 victory over Oxfordshire rivals Wantage Town in a fiery contest at Alfredian Park on Tuesday

Goals from Kieran Sanders and Stuart Hole spurred the Millers on to hold on to the win with Daniel Barry's Wantage side unable to really make a dent in the Millers defence

On a cold autumn night North Leigh got the ball rippling along the surface right from the start, with their silky attacking play leaving Wantage chasing shadows

North Leigh looked to punish their opponents from set pieces and with 14 minutes on the clock, the Millers took the lead in stunning fashion

By Loughlan Campbell

A whipped corner from Morgan Williams was expertly volleyed into the net by Sanders from three yards leaving the home side stunned

The Millers went on to dominate possession with the trio of Williams, Sanders and Callum McNish always looking a threat

In the 21st minute, it was suddenly 2-0 after another Williams corner was headed into the net off the left hand post from a lofted Stuart Hole header

The effort seemed baffling as neither side expected the ball to divert in and Wantage could not find a way to hit back in the half with the Millers keeping hold of the ball well

The second half saw Barry's men spurred on and they charged down their opponents constantly restricting their link up play

Ben Whitehead nearly scored a stunner with half an hour to play as he latched on to a ball controlled well and launched an effort that just flew over the bar

Williams then fired over from just outside the box, before McNish fired wide after good work from Aaron Woodley saw the midfield blast in a cross which the forward couldn't knock into the net despite being only a few yards out

All in all it was a strong performance from North Leigh who got their eight league win of the campaign to stay top whilst Wantage Town remain sixteenth

Easy win for City in strong cup showing

A SECOND HALF brace from Omari Sterling-James helped Oxford City ease their way into the FA Cup's third qualifying round in a 3-1 win over Shortwood United

Bradley Bubb's penalty fired City in front in the first half with Sterling James grabbing his double after the break whilst Andy Lewis scored a penalty for the visitors

City got their game going after Bubb fired low into the left hand corner from the spot after Kynan Issac had been tripped by Sam Rawlings

Julen Lafuente went close after he found himself in great space six yards out, but he couldn't turn beat the keeper

City doubled their lead just after the break with Bubb making a meal of the Shortwood defence and whipping the ball across the area for Sterling James to slot in

Just three minutes later the visitors got a goal back with Lewis barrelling the ball home following a foul on Liam Meredith in the area

However, City soon put United to the sword with Bubb and Sterling James once again opening the Shortwood defence and Sterling-James knocked the ball in for City's third and last goal

Plato slips back in title hunt

JASON Plato's title hopes in the British Touring Car Championship took a hit on Sunday as he slipped 23 points behind series leader Gordon Shedden with only one round remaining

The Oxford-based driver didn't have the best of luck at Silverstone at the weekend, with a puncture dropping him to 25th position in race one

He got back into the points in race two as he came home seventh but lost further ground to Shedden who finished fourth

And while he was able to beat his title rival in race three it wasn't by much as Plato came fourth and Shedden fifth

"There's no getting around it a 23 point gap is not good but we all know anything can happen in this game and it can all turn around on a sixpence" said Plato

"We had bad luck in race one with the puncture and that sort of thing can happen to anyone

"We improved the car for race three, but didn't get the rub of the green at the start It was a strange weekend"

Plato is second in the standings with 302 points going into the final three races of the season with it all to play for

ROOFE SNATCHES UNITED WINNER

By Loughlan Campbell

KEMAR Roofe proved himself to be a decisive cog for Oxford United once again after he got the winning goal in a 2-1 win for his side at York City on Tuesday.

United dominated proceedings at Bootham Crescent with Danny Hylton firing Michael Appleton's side in front in the first half before Rhys Turner capitalised on poor goalkeeping from Sam Slocombe to get City level.

The home side improved in the second half but it was Oxford who managed to run away with the result after the ball cannoned into the net off Roofe.

Roofe's sixth goal of the season helped increase United's league fortunes following two successive draws, lifting Oxford to sixth in the table.

Appleton's side could have been in front inside four minutes after Danny Rose's header just flew over the bar from close range following a whipped George Baldock cross.

United got the opener on 10 minutes with Liam Sercombe offering a weighted ball between the York defence, which allowed Hylton to latch on to, skip round Scott Flinders and place into the net.

Sercombe nearly had a second eight minutes later that Flinders got down well to block and Callum O'Dowda saw his shot blocked just before the half hour mark.

It was shortly afterwards that York struck back after a crisis of communication between the Oxford defence and Slocombe as Turner rounded the ball into the net.

After the break York came out fighting but Roofe was keen to make his mark on the match and fired two shots just wide of the mark before forcing Flinders into making a sensational save on 70 minutes.

The resulting corner saw Johnny Mullins leap high and knock a header goalwards which bounced off a defender on the line and cannoned into Roofe before nestling in the net.

The goal proved to be the winner for United and Appleton can breath a sigh of relief after a frustrating couple of games for United over the course of September.

Their sixth place keeps them in contention at the top of League Two with a fiery encounter at Accrington Stanley on Saturday set to prove a stern test.
